Stone and Folk and Power Development.

The Republican believes that last week it made clear to its readers that Governor Folk, who is seeking the seat of Senator Stone, favors the taxation of running water, which has heretofore been accorded as free as air, and that if the Folk policy is adopted, the James and White rivers will not be developed for electric power. Therefore it behooves the Democrats of this county to favor the election of Senator Stone. To show the benefits that will arise from the Stone policy and be embarrassed by the election of Governor Folk for all time to come, we quote as follows from the government report issued March 20th, 1908, entitled, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, Circular 144, prepared by M. O. Leighton, M. R. Hall and R. H. Bolster, United States Geological Survey:

"Water Power is a prime factor in the present industrial development of the south. The abundance of water supply and the slope of rivers have recently brought to the region watered by streams from the southern Appalachian mountains, the greatest development of water power that has ever taken place, during a similar period, anywhere in the United States. The resources represented by this water power is far greater than its present market value. Fuel must become more and more costly as the available supply is depleted. This means that the cost of fuel power will constantly increase, and the demand for water power will increase in proportion. The low average of the present rental value of water power is $20 per horse power per year. * * * The future value cannot be estimated."

Respecting this same water power development the record before the committee of agriculture, house of representatives, of last winter, contains the statement of Mr. A. M. Shoen, representing the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, a witness eminently qualified and called by the government. He states the total of this Appalachian development has been 352,000 horse power, developed and in operation, 327,000 horse power projected, and 947,000 which is available but undeveloped. To replace these powers with steam, depending on the section and on the size of the plants and the character of the plants, would cost from thirty to fifty dollars per horse power per annum; I mean in the operation, making a difference on the present development of $3,520,000 per annum to $10,500,000 per annum; and on the basis of the entire power, a difference of $16,200,000 per annum.

The value of the present development, and this development has been figured on a basis of 60 hrs. per week, ordinarily used by the mill, and figured at the rate of $20.00 per horse power, which is the average rate charged the mills for this power developed."

The location of the Appalachian water powers and everything connected with them, was no more inviting to investment than has existed during all this time on the James and White rivers in Stone and Taney counties, Missouri, and on our other rivers in Missouri; but the people of Missouri did not wake up to their possibilities to ask for the legislation, which Senator Stone is laboring to procure for us and Governor Folk is ready to block by a demand for a water power tax in case we put him in the United States Senate.

The pending James river water power bill has passed the house and been recommended for passage by the Senate committee, and it is expected to come to a vote in December, and to largely determine the fate of water power bills on the White river.

If we give a solid Democratic vote to Senator Stone it will show that we want such legislation here, and if we defeat him in these counties it will show that we are opposed to such legislation; particularly when he stands for it and Governor Folk is known to be against it. It means just as much if the people of Christian, Greene and Lawrence counties do this. In December it is expected that a bill will be introduced in favor of J. J. Meyer the big mill owner of Springfield and the president of the Exchange National Bank, and other responsible and influential men of Springfield, and of Coleman, Davis, Jarrett and Woodfill of Aurora, J. W. Vance, Allen, Helliwig and Woolley of Pierce City, and Judge Darnall and others of Monett, for a tunnel and dam site privilege at the Wheeler Bend near Forsyth.

This tunnel and dam at the Wheeler Bend will give slack water navigation from there to Branson, and enable mail, freight and passengers, to come down the river from Branson and be taken across the low gap by appliances there, and to reach Forsyth at much less expense and greater convenience than at present; and so it will be with the country beyond with the travel and freight that now has to cross the mountain between Forsyth and Branson; and it will make 32 miles of river bluffs the resort of tourists and for country homes for the rich, who can use their pleasure boats and be in communication with the railway and Branson by boat, giving trade to its merchants and hotels.

All the land needed for this slack water navigation will have to be paid for by the power company; they will either buy it or condemn it and pay for it, so that none of the bottom land owners will be injured. The dam will be built under government supervision, and provide means for fish to go up and come down, and for skills and crafts to go over it, and for the skills to be pulled up over it if that becomes necessary.

Ample provision is made in the deed made by General Standish and wife to these parties to protect the public. We have been shown a copy of the deed. Among its provisions are these: "In the development of these water power sites, where dams and slack water shall be created to interfere with usual fording places, the said corporation shall provide free ferry, or other means suitable for crossing the stream, by the public, so as to not prejudice or injure the public by reason of said development, and in the construction of said dams, said corporation shall provide the usual means prescribed by the war department for floating over said dams, and for the ascent and descent of fish."

"It is hereby stipulated by and between these grantors and said grantees, that if public sentiment and state and federal constitutional provisions shall so change as to allow it, they will be willing to have either the state or the federal government take over the aforesaid property after development, with all its appurtenances, at its actual value, to be determined by agreement, mutual arbitration or condemnation, and have the state or federal government operate the same and distribute and sell power to the public.

This agreement and deed shall be attached to the application for a corporation charter and be referred to by the charter and made a part of it, after being first duly recorded."

Nothing more fair or protective to the public could be made. The above quotations attach to all the water power sites formerly owned by General Standish on the two rivers in Stone and Taney counties and they attach to the present pending bill on the Big Bend of the James.

Everything on the White river above Branson stops there and at Hollister, because these are railway points, and everything that will be on the White river above this Wheeler dam can go up the river to Branson and Hollister cheaper than it can now be taken down the river to Cotter, and will at Branson and Hollister command better prices than at Cotter because the market for all our productions is in the north and east, and freight at these points is less than it would be from Cotter.

This improvement will insure the continuation of the Nixa electric railway to Forsyth and Lead Hill, keeping east of White river until it crosses to Lead Hill, and this will open all that tributary region, and give power and transportation to develop our mines, while all the region in Taney county between White river and the Missouri Pacific railway will go to Branson, Hollister, Mena and Omaha, on the railway, as it does now.

This improvement will bring factories to our region, the same as it placed $400,000,000 in invested property in the southeast, for we are located close to the raw production of the south and the west, and nearly in the center of the population of the United States. The building to be done here at home will require all of our timber and lumber and all that we can grow upon our farms. It will also build up the manufacturing and commercial interests of Christian county, Springfield, Republic, Aurora, Monett, Pierce City, Stotts City, Crane and all parts of Stone and Taney counties, and everything in the region that can be reached by electric wires from these water power plants, including electric railways and lightning. This opportunity should not be thrown away by voting for Folk instead of Stone.

This policy will benefit the whole nation, because cheap power for all our industries is as necessary as cheap transportation, and the mountain regions can get transportation in no other way; and it is as foolish to tax water for power as it is to tax it for navigation, or to tax our people for the right to fish, or for the right to cut ice out of our lakes and rivers. Everybody must see that the policy Senator Stone favors is necessary for the public good, and all Democrats should vote for him.
